1.

My most memorable meal was a barbeque dinner that I had with my school friends. This barbeque dinner was last summer at a river up in the mountains. First on the morning of that day, my four friends and I went to a local food store to buy some, drinks, meats, fruits, vegetables, and some charcoal. Once we bought these things, we drove to the river where we set up the barbeque and made the food. While we were making the dinner, we had time to do other things like swim and fish. When the fire was ready, we started the barbeque. All the food we got was so tasty! I especially liked the chicken and pork. After the dinner my friends gave me a surprise. It was a birthday cake! After we ate the cake, we lit some fireworks and drove back home. Finally, I got home safely and although I was tired, I was so happy. In conclusion, I would recommend this meal to anyone who wants to enjoy a hot summer day doing fun things with school friends.

The most important person in my life is my mother, *. I know many things about her. For example, she was born in Tokyo in 1980. When she was 10 years old her family moved to Hiroshima. After she graduated from high school, she went to university and did a study abroad in America. During her time at university, she got her teaching license and is now a junior high school English teacher. In terms of why my mother is so special to me is that no matter how busy she has been, she has always prepared breakfast and dinner for me and my brother. All the meals she made were very tasty. I especially liked when she makes ton katsu. Lastly, there are two things I have done together with my mother that I remember well. The first one was going out to a live concert to see our favorite singer, *. Last year we went to see him, and it was one of most exciting time we ever had together. The second one was a tennis match in which we played against each other for about 2 hours. We are both very good tennis players, and the score was very close. In the end I won, but more importantly I enjoyed the competition between us.
